RUMORS. The news, for the past few days, has not been of the most satisfactory or interesting nature. Speculations there have been, as plenty as blackbergles, and as controllictory and varieps as the changing views of a kaleidoscope and authors in plenty there have been and are, and still they come : until, we may say, of a truth, that of the making of rumors, "there is no end," The press, for the week now closing, the been doublering about in this sea of specuberion and ramor, and have been sumbled to Then, in a few minutes the ann would appear again, throw apon the great subject of the "situation," | in olluting brightness, to decay some other unhappy coming that spray, without sanlight enough to predestrian into a fintal trust in the deceitful reflect a calabour of hope therein. Has Gen-Hocker recrossed the Rappahamock! is be-ാൽ a question as much mosted, as the famous one, "who struck Billy Patterson," and about as uncertain replies, have been made in answer to it. There is now a rumor-the last sensauon camor, dear reader-that Gen. Why the South Conner be Recognised. A temperate and convincing little treatise on the question of "Recognition" has appeared in London, from the pen of "rederied: Waymonth Gibbs, G. B. The author, in a terrorand vigorous Gibbs, C. B. The suttor, in a term and vigorous style, argues that the clauser of webst symplactices in England for a recognition of the Confederacy it sensator, for the following very good reasons: The reled government is not in full and undisputed exercise of covereignty within the territory over which it claims authority, and the territories of the Confederate States are meletimed. He filter these these points as follows:

"I. War is being waged in Virginia, Reutmety, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkans as Misskalppi, and Louisians. A position, at least, of the leat it cather to the authority of the North. I from the mouth of the Potatone to the mental of the Misskalppi, the northern state, have never recorded from the command of the worters which form an inscapp, the nothern state, have never recoded from the command of the waters which form an integral part of the country. The blockwise is effective. The impossibility of creating a Price Court because the Confidence states to decide from the rules of wat, and send out a public receiption of the rules of wat, and send out a public receiption of the rules of wat, and send out a public receiption of the carrying them in for adjudication by a Price Court. Their justification rests on necessity; the necessity proves their want of sovereignity. Hereo is nothing to call for even limited recognition. The dominion over the parts of St. Domingo sceptical by the negroes, which justified the limited recognition of the amoundous their povernment, in order to change the character of the island from one of locality in law into one of ficualship in law, in accordance with fact; the extensive commerce which renderd accounts to Spanish American state, spat from their ultimate independence; both these discumnations.—The optimize contingence and the dominion over the parts—are wanting here.

"3. The territories of the Confidence States are undefined.
